

SMP Tech, Inc. Advanced Medical Design Solutions

SMP is a turnkey medical device development company providing design, documentation, pilot production manufacturing and additive manufacturing services to the highly-regulated Medical and Biotech Industries.

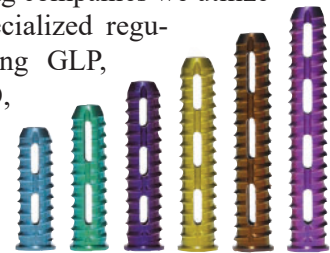

We offer comprehensive engineering and prototyping services in breakthrough medical device technology ranging from low-cost disposable drug delivery components to complex surgical instruments and orthopedic implantable systems. SMP has extensive experience designing robotic equipment, medical instruments and disposables. For pre-existing products, we offer cost reduction methodology that can help you improve margins, without impairing safety or performance.

SMP provides complete documentation to ensure that our customers' devices are designed and manufactured compliant to all regulatory requirements. Some examples include: Design Controls and DHF

Management, Design Verification Planning and Testing, FMEA and Risk Analysis, Test Protocols/ Study Reports, Validation Documentation, Equipment Qualification, Process Validation and Device History Records.

SMP is on track to receive our ISO 9001 and ISO 13485 Certification in the first quarter of 2014. SMP can help you set up your quality and compliance policies, procedures and systems. Our present development processes and documentation comply with FDA 21 CFR Part 820 as defined in ISO 13485. SMP has established relationships with various consulting companies we utilize when needed for specialized regulatory issues including GLP, ISO 13485, MDD, and CMDCAS. SMP works cooperatively to successfully complete medical development projects by building partnerships that supplement our client's strengths with our technical resources.
